

Dear Dr.

I have found a great opportunity to attend the IR Residency Practicum (IRP) 2024 hosted by the Society of Interventional Radiology (SIR) happening June 6–8 at the Palmer House Hilton Hotel in Chicago. I'm very interested in this opportunity as it would benefit my career development.

SIR is an organization dedicated to providing interventional radiologists with critical resources that foster career development and practice success.

The IRP 2024 event prepares residents with the most current and impactful training as they begin to prepare for their first years of practice in IR. This is a chance for me to network with other IR residents and learn a diverse range of topics from experts.

I would like to attend this event, as it would allow me to gain valuable insights into the best IR practices and advance my professional career.

IRP is a great investment because the program:

- Addresses the broad spectrum of modern IR practice from the medical management of PAD patients to appropriate evaluation and treatment of interventional oncology patients
- Explains how to set up and maintain an IR clinic and manage the competition
- Discusses the latest data about the endovascular management of various IR treatments
- Provides business tools and resources that will be helpful in the first few years of practice
- Hosts peer discussions that encourage critical thinking across various backgrounds

Attending this event will deepen the knowledge I acquired in training and allow me to enter my career with a strong network of IR experts and colleagues. After the event, I plan to provide a summary of lessons learned and offer new ideas that will benefit our program and organization.

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter, and I appreciate your consideration and support.
